DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

1. Claims 1-20 are pending in this application.
2. If applicant is aware of any prior art or any co-pending application not already on record, the applicant is reminded of his/her duty under 37 C.F.R §1.56 to disclose the same.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
4. Claims 1-2 and 5-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
5. Regarding claims 1, 11, 12, 16, and 19-20, the phrase "such that" renders the claim indefinite because it is unclear whether the limitations following the phrase are part of the claimed invention. See MPEP § 2173.05(d).
6. Claim 2 recites the limitations "the item description field of the materials planning system and/or the Approved Manufacturer List". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Applicant did not specify to which "item description field", "materials planning system", and "Approved Manufacturer List" he is referring to.

7. Claim 5 recites the limitations "the supplier part number of an item, the catalog responds with the compact item descriptor of the item, and the compact item descriptor is stored in the item master description field of the materials planning system and/or the Approved Manufacturer List". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Applicant did not specify to which "item master description field", "materials planning system", and "Approved Manufacturer List" he is referring to.

8. Claim 6 recites the limitations "the supplier name and the supplier part number". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Applicant did not specify to which "supplier name" and "supplier part number" he is referring to.

9. Claim 7 recites the limitations "the supplier part number for an interchangeable item and the supplier part number is stored into supplier part number field of the materials planning system and/or the Approved Manufacturer List". There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. Applicant did not specify to which "supplier part number", "materials planning system", and "Approved Manufacturer List" he is referring to.

10. Similar comments apply to Claims 8-20.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

11. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

12. Claims 1-2 and 12-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blutinger et al. (US Patent No. 5,231,566).

13. Regarding Claims 1 and 12, Blutinger reads on an item descriptor derived by classifying the item and assigning values to the list of parameters to describe the characteristics of the item such that two different items with the same item descriptor are interchangeable (Abstract). Blutinger fails to explicitly disclose that the item descriptor is a compact item descriptor.

14. However, the difference between compact item descriptor and an item descriptor is only found in the non-functional descriptive material and is not functionally involved in the steps recited. The classifying and assigning steps would be performed the same regardless of whether the item descriptor is compact or not. Limitations that are not functionally interrelated with the useful acts, structure, or properties of the claimed invention carry little or no patentable weight. Thus, this descriptive material will not distinguish the claimed invention from the prior art in terms of patentability, see In re Ngai, 70 USPQ2d 1862 (CAFC 2004); In re Gulack, 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed. Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 F.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

15. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to derive a compact item descriptor because the item descriptor does not functionally relate to the system claimed and because the subjective interpretation of the descriptor does not patentably distinguish the claimed invention.

Art Unit: 3609

16. Regarding Claims 2 and 13, Blutinger reads on storing the item descriptor in a material planning system (Column 5 lines 52-61).

17. Claims 3-10, 14-15, and 17-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blutinger et al. (US Patent No. 5,231,566) in view of Brathwaite (US Publication No. 2003/0221172 A1).

18. Regarding Claim 3-10, 14-15, and 17-18, Blutinger fails to disclose a catalog wherein the catalog is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item.

19. However, Brathwaite discloses querying a database wherein the database is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item (Abstract, [0014], [0052], [0070]).

20. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the teachings of Brathwaite in the device of Blutinger reference to include a catalog wherein the catalog is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item, for the advantage of allowing a user to look up and identify relevant product information.

21. Claims 11, 16, and 19-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 103(a) as being unpatentable over Blutinger et al. (US Patent No. 5,231,566) in view of Brathwaite (US Publication No. 2003/0221172 A1) as applied to claims 1 and 12, further in view of Kavanagh et al. (US Patent No. 5,838,965).

Art Unit: 3609

22. Regarding Claim 11, 16, 19-20, Blutinger fails to disclose a catalog wherein the catalog is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item and querying a supplier suffix table.

23. However, Kavanagh discloses querying a database wherein the database is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item including a supplier suffix data (Column 77 lines 21-28, Column 79 lines 22-30).

24. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the teachings of Kavanagh in the device of Blutinger reference to include a catalog wherein the catalog is queried with an input field of an item to generate requested criteria of the item and to perform querying functions of a supplier suffix table, for the advantage of allowing a user to look up and identify relevant product information.
